Dear Parents/carers,

Y7 Update and Chromebooks

I write following the first day of school to say congratulations to the way in which the new pupils looked 'super smart' in their new uniforms. Rest assured where pupils' uniform hasn't yet arrived, we will loan out items, so that no child feels anxious about not having the full uniform. We fully understand.

Additionally, having met their tutor, with whom they completed some 'getting to know your activities' their attitude was exemplary.

We handed out Chromebooks to all those who had paid the one-off payment of £25 before the beginning of term. These Chromebooks, complete with a case, will be used to support homework, revision and used in a small number of lessons.

If you haven't yet done so, please follow the link below so that you can sign up for one. Once the £25 payment has been received, your child will be given a Chromebook, one they can use for the next 5 years at the Ellis Guilford School. There is no other payment to make.

Whilst a Chromebook is not compulsory, we would encourage all pupils to have one.

After a great first day, we look forward to seeing pupil's tomorrow morning, where they will have another day, getting to know the school and making new friends.

I will write to you again with any further updates.

Thanks for your support.
